How Students Can Respond During Pronoun Interrogation

(Mission America report) The first few weeks of school are hectic but also exciting. New backpacks, new outfits, new friends, new pronouns.... Wait, no. Hopefully not. Hopefully your child's teacher won't demand affirmation of "woke" ideology from your son or daughter and will show respect for settled science and biology.

But the unthinkable may occur. Will your child's teacher be one of the insulting ones who insists every student declare his/her pronouns during class introductions? It's already happening, folks....

I asked readers of this e-newsletter and other trusted friends to send their thoughts about how children might respond during a pronoun exercise. So here are some of the responses along with ideas of my own. {Photo is from a poster displayed at Beachwood (OH) High School}

This is the huge club held over the heads of parents, teachers and others who encounter these troubled children. But a recent study shows the opposite—that the more easy access there is to gender medications, the more likely the teen is to attempt suicide.

This new study tells us what we have known all along—that it is dangerous to fool with Mother Nature, or actually, our Creator, Father God. The medical attempts to slow down the body's natural process of puberty, and then to give a teen opposite sex hormones, is fraught with potential future complications. It should never, ever be done on a developing body.

Do Children Matter to America Anymore?

When we compromise on moral issues like sexuality and marriage, we can expect huge losses in the fight to protect children from corruption. The only way we will turn this tide is to stand strong.

Mission America is not giving in to cultural madness, because God's truth has not changed, so our faith should not, either. That's why our reach is expanding. We live in very challenging times, but darkness provides more opportunities for light to shine even brighter.
