Top 10 Reasons to Say NO to School Health Clinics

By Linda Harvey

Ohio Gov DeWine just approved $26 million for school health clinics. Why?

School-based health clinics are the practical application of the high-risk "social emotional learning" fad and go way beyond the role of the typical school nurse. They are a terrible idea. Here's why.

Bypassing parent involvement. An onsite clinic offers the ever-present opportunity for your child to receive physical exams and counseling chosen for them, with or without your permission, because a teacher or counselor decides it is "needed" during the school day, when you are not there. This is not fantasy, but in fact an emerging practice of many school personnel, to "empower" children to make their own decisions with little or no parental input.

What Schools Offer on "Diversity"-- Take a Look at Dublin (OH) City Schools

From Shana Chan's blog

These pages are from one of the books sitting in my elementary child's library because DCS approved it - along with many others - via a $12,000 book donation in October 2021 from an organization called Harper's Corner in the name of "diversity and inclusion."

Will We Let Radicals Corrupt Children?

Does this image offend you? A condom on a banana? Think about if you are a 7th grader and this is part of your "comprehensive sex education" class.

We have to keep exposing and saying NO to this garbage.

Mission America thrives on your prayers, your appreciation of our resources, and the contributions so graciously made to this ministry. We continue to expose anti-child activities like this.
